

PRESS PACKAGE

The American Deal

The National Sovereignty and Resilience Act

“Not borrowed. Earned. Built to last.”

Fact sheet · Key figures with sourcing · Founder background · Core messages · Talking points & rebuttals ·
Contact

Press contact: contact@theamericadeal.org · TheAmericanDeal.org · July 2026

At a Glance

The American Deal is the public campaign for the National Sovereignty and Resilience Act (NSRA) — a citizen-authored federal framework of 36 titles and 218 sections. It restores fiscal sovereignty and delivers material household benefits without adding to the deficit, funded by recapturing value that currently leaves the domestic economy rather than by new broad-based taxes. The agenda is finished, fully costed on published government baselines, and owned by no party — published in full and open to whoever runs on it first.

“The American Deal” is the public movement and governing promise; the “NSRA” is the legislative vehicle. The project is a program of TheAmericanDeal, Inc., a Wyoming 501(c)(4) civic-education organization.

Key Figures — With Sourcing

Claim	Figure	Basis
Year 1 annual revenue	$749B	NSRA model on CBO/JCT/OMB/Treasury baselines
Annual deficit reduction	$554B	NSRA model; internally sensitivity-tested
Balanced budget (central est.)	Year 4	NSRA model; low/base/high scenarios
Americans in Year-1 relief	79M+	28M uninsured · 42M SNAP · 9M veterans
Federal drug-pricing savings	~$55B/yr	PNAS 2024 G7 price-differential analysis
Insulin price cap	$35/month	Statutory text (pharmaceutical parity)
Corporate single-family housing cap	50 units/metro	Statutory text (Title XIV)
Small-business exemption	< $10M revenue	Statutory text (Covered Entity definition)

Fiscal figures are NSRA model estimates on published government baselines — internally modeled and sensitivity-tested, not yet officially scored. Independent and congressional scoring are pending. A companion Figure-by-Figure Sourcing & Verification guide traces each figure line by line.

Founder Background

Santonio Sanders is the principal architect of the NSRA. His background is operational rather than political:

- Ten years in the U.S. Navy submarine service.
- Federal contracting in national-security and diplomatic environments, embedded across multiple agencies.
- Former VA ambulatory-care director, having led the veteran-care referral continuum at a major federal VA medical facility.
- Author of the NSRA, written outside the political and lobbying system.

Talking Points

A broad menu — pull what fits your audience. These span the spectrum by design: kitchen-table, fiscal, populist-left and populist-right, sovereignty, and anti-corruption. Say figures as model estimates; the deficit and revenue numbers are internally modeled on public baselines with official scoring pending, and the project says so openly.

The core promise

- This isn't a wish list — it's a promise the country can actually keep. Real benefits in Year One, and the dividend only when we've earned it.
- Not borrowed. Earned. Built to last.
- Washington keeps handing you IOUs. This one pays cash — from money that's already leaving the country.
- Every dollar it spends traces to a dollar it recovers. No new middle-class taxes. No borrowing.
- It was written outside the system — by a Navy veteran and former VA director, not a lobbyist and not a party.

Drug prices & healthcare

- Americans pay two to four times what Germans or Canadians pay for the exact same pill. This ends it — same drug, the price the rest of the developed world pays.
- Insulin at thirty-five dollars a month. Not a pilot, not a coupon — the law.
- Zero-premium coverage delivered through private plans that compete for you. Nobody loses the plan they like.
- Hospitals eat tens of billions a year in unpaid bills and pass the cost to the insured. Cover everyone and that hidden tax on your premium collapses.

Housing & corporate landlords

- Wall Street shouldn't be able to buy up your neighborhood and rent it back to your kids. Fifty homes per metro — that's the cap.
- This never touches the mom-and-pop landlord. It stops the hedge fund that owns ten thousand houses in one city.
- First-time buyers get down-payment help — funded by the orderly sale of those corporate portfolios. The pool of owners grows.
- There's a throttle so it can't crash the market: no more than four-and-a-half percent of local sales a quarter, with fair compensation. Wind-down, not fire sale.

Cost of living, young families, and the next generation

- Zero interest on federal student loans. You pay back what you borrowed — not triple.
- Every American newborn gets a five-thousand-dollar start that grows past thirty thousand by age eighteen. No means test. Every child.
- This is a raise for working people that doesn't come out of the next paycheck — it comes out of the extraction we've been tolerating.

The math — for the fiscal skeptic

- Roughly $554 billion in deficit reduction a year and a modeled path to balance by Year Four — and the math is public, every line, every source.
- We're not asking anyone to trust us. Schedule G shows every assumption and its government source, and we're the ones inviting the CBO to score it.
- This is the rare plan that's pro-worker and pro-balance-sheet at the same time.
- It exempts every business under ten million in revenue and funds itself by recapture, not by taxing growth.

Anti-corruption & sovereignty

- Ban members of Congress from trading stocks. Roughly three in four Americans agree, left and right. This does it.
- The people who write the laws shouldn't be betting on them. Full stop.
- Bring the medicine, the chips, and the supply chains home. Sovereignty isn't a slogan — it's a supply chain.
- Defend the dollar's reserve-currency status like the national-security asset it is.

On the scope — 'can one bill do all this?'

- It's strongest as one Act, but built to survive in parts — the revenue funds the benefits, and every title is written to pass on its own. Strongest whole; viable in parts.
- The breadth isn't ambition for its own sake. It's the mechanism: pull the revenue and the benefits are unfunded; pull the safeguards and the revenue gets captured.

Rebuttals — Soundbite Comebacks

Short answers to the attacks you'll hear, built to be said in one breath.

“This is socialism.”

Socialism takes over companies. This does the opposite — it exempts every small business under ten million, funds itself without new taxes, and delivers coverage through private insurers competing for you.

“No single bill can do all of this.”

It's not a pile of promises — it's one machine where the revenue funds the benefits. And every title is written to pass on its own. Strongest whole, viable in parts.

“The numbers aren't real — CBO will blow it up.”

Then score it. We built it on CBO, JCT, and Treasury baselines, published every assumption, and we're the ones asking for the official score. We say 'pending' — we don't pretend it's done.

“This kills drug innovation.”

It keeps the patent and pays a royalty. It targets the two-to-four-times markup Americans pay, not the research — fully private R&D is untouched.

“It's a government takeover of healthcare.”

You keep your plan. It adds a zero-premium floor delivered by private insurers who compete for you. It regulates the overhead, not the industry.

“It'll crash the housing market.”

There's a throttle — no more than four-and-a-half percent of local sales a quarter, with just compensation. Orderly wind-down, not a fire sale.

“Who is this guy? He's not a politician.”

Exactly. A Navy submarine veteran and former VA director wrote it outside the system — which is why it isn't built to win one vote, it's built to work.

Money Quotes

“What America owes you isn't a feeling. It's a number — and this is how you collect it.”

“A promise the country can actually keep.”

“Not borrowed. Earned. Built to last.”

Contact & Resources

Interviews, additional assets, and figure-level walk-throughs available on request. The full statutory text, Schedule G methodology, constitutional audit, Figure-by-Figure Sourcing guide, and high-resolution brand assets are at TheAmericanDeal.org/press.

contact@theamericadeal.org · TheAmericanDeal.org/press

Please note when citing: fiscal and impact figures are NSRA model estimates on published baselines — internally modeled and sensitivity-tested, not official CBO/JCT scores, which are pending. Statutory parameters (e.g., an insulin cap) are the text of the bill. Trademarks: What America Owes You™, The Sovereign Return Engine™, The 7-Subledger Math Engine™.