At a Glance

The American Deal is the public campaign for the National Sovereignty and Resilience Act (NSRA) — a citizen-authored federal framework of 36 titles and 218 sections. It restores fiscal sovereignty and delivers material household benefits without adding to the deficit, funded by recapturing value that currently leaves the domestic economy rather than by new broad-based taxes. The agenda is finished, fully costed on published government baselines, and owned by no party — published in full and open to whoever runs on it first. It is strongest as one Act but engineered to survive in parts: each title is drafted to stand alone, and a severability clause keeps the rest intact if any single piece is struck.

“The American Deal” is the public movement and governing promise; the “NSRA” is the legislative vehicle. The project is a program of TheAmericanDeal, Inc., a Wyoming 501(c)(4) civic-education organization.

How It Pays for Itself

No new broad-based taxes on households or small business. The Act redirects value leaving the domestic economy through legal but structurally harmful channels, across seven self-contained subledgers (The 7-Subledger Math Engine™), routed into the Sovereign Infrastructure Reinvestment Fund (SIRF). Representative scored streams:

Stream	Yield/yr	Stream	Yield/yr
SS payroll cap elimination	$150B	NIMA (0.18% gross >$100M)	$39.6B
Corporate rate 21%→28%	$110B	Land + mineral royalty reform	$30B+
IRS enforcement fund (net)	$90B	Fin.-sector excess-profits	$20B
Carbon dividend fee	$85B	LBO interest cap	$18B
OECD Pillar Two	$75B	Carried interest → ordinary	$14B
Financial transaction tax 0.1%	$75B	Pharma parity savings (10-yr)	$550B
Step-up basis reform >$5M	$50B	Student-loan zero-interest (cost)	–$25B

A statutory gate (Sec. 005) requires CBO certification of revenue sufficiency before any title disbursing over $500M/yr activates — distinct from, and not a substitute for, official CBO scoring of the bill, which is pending.

Founder Background

Santonio Sanders is the principal architect of the NSRA. His background is operational rather than political:

- Ten years in the U.S. Navy submarine service.
- Federal contracting in national-security and diplomatic environments, embedded across multiple agencies.
- Former VA ambulatory-care director, having led the veteran-care referral continuum at a major federal VA medical facility.
- Author of the NSRA, written outside the political and lobbying system.

The Six Promises

The 36 titles are organized around six promises: Anti-Extraction (anti-monopoly, PE limits, sovereign wealth fund); Anti-Corruption (congressional stock ban, emoluments enforcement, press freedom); Pro-Worker & Pro-Farmer (organizing rights, pension protection, food sovereignty); Clean Water & Clean Energy (lead-pipe & PFAS cleanup, grid modernization, advanced fission); Future-Building (Child Prosperity Trust, student-debt relief, semiconductors); and American Sovereignty (reserve-currency defense, reshoring, veterans first).

Core Messages

- Deliverability, not ideology. A promise the country can actually keep — real benefits in Year 1, the dividend only when earned.
- Genuine revenue, not borrowing. Funds itself by recapturing value leaving the economy, not by new broad-based taxes.
- Stronger together, viable apart. The breadth is a mechanism, but each title can pass on its own; severability protects the rest.
- Visible evidence standard. Every major claim is classified by source and review status; official scoring is stated as pending, not implied.

Talking Points

A broad menu — pull what fits your audience. These span the spectrum by design. Say figures as model estimates; the deficit and revenue numbers are internally modeled on public baselines with official scoring pending, and the project says so openly.

The core promise

- This isn't a wish list — it's a promise the country can actually keep. Real benefits in Year One, and the dividend only when we've earned it.
- Not borrowed. Earned. Built to last.
- Every dollar it spends traces to a dollar it recovers. No new middle-class taxes. No borrowing.
- Written outside the system — by a Navy veteran and former VA director, not a lobbyist and not a party.

Drug prices & healthcare

- Americans pay two to four times what Germans or Canadians pay for the exact same pill. This ends it — same drug, the price the rest of the developed world pays.
- Insulin at thirty-five dollars a month. Not a pilot, not a coupon — the law.
- Zero-premium coverage delivered through private plans that compete for you. Nobody loses the plan they like.

Housing & corporate landlords

- Wall Street shouldn't be able to buy up your neighborhood and rent it back to your kids. Fifty homes per metro — that's the cap.
- This never touches the mom-and-pop landlord. It stops the hedge fund that owns ten thousand houses in one city.
- There's a throttle so it can't crash the market — an orderly wind-down with fair compensation, not a fire sale.

Kitchen table & the next generation

- Zero interest on federal student loans. You pay back what you borrowed — not triple.
- Every American newborn gets a five-thousand-dollar start that grows past thirty thousand by eighteen. No means test.
- A raise for working people that doesn't come out of the next paycheck — it comes out of the extraction we've tolerated.

The math

- Roughly $554 billion in deficit reduction a year and a modeled path to balance by Year Four — and the math is public, every line, every source.
- We're not asking anyone to trust us. We built it on CBO, JCT, and Treasury baselines and we're the ones inviting the official score.
- The rare plan that's pro-worker and pro-balance-sheet at the same time.

Anti-corruption & sovereignty

- Ban members of Congress from trading stocks. The people who write the laws shouldn't be betting on them.

- Bring the medicine, the chips, and the supply chains home. Sovereignty isn't a slogan — it's a supply chain.
- Defend the dollar's reserve-currency status like the national-security asset it is.

Rebuttals — Soundbite Comebacks

“This is socialism.”

Socialism takes over companies. This does the opposite — it exempts every small business under ten million, funds itself without new taxes, and delivers coverage through private insurers competing for you.

“No single bill can do all of this.”

It's one machine where the revenue funds the benefits — and every title is written to pass on its own. Strongest whole, viable in parts.

“The numbers aren't real — CBO will blow it up.”

Then score it. We built it on CBO, JCT, and Treasury baselines, published every assumption, and we're the ones asking for the official score. We say 'pending' — we don't pretend it's done.

“This kills drug innovation.”

It keeps the patent and pays a royalty. It targets the two-to-four-times markup Americans pay, not the research — fully private R&D is untouched.

“It's a government takeover of healthcare.”

You keep your plan. It adds a zero-premium floor delivered by private insurers who compete for you. It regulates the overhead, not the industry.

There's a throttle — no more than four-and-a-half percent of local sales a quarter, with just compensation. Orderly wind-down, not a fire sale.

“Who is this guy? He's not a politician.”

Exactly. A Navy submarine veteran and former VA director wrote it outside the system — which is why it isn't built to win one vote, it's built to work.

Money Quotes

“What America owes you isn't a feeling. It's a number — and this is how you collect it.”

“A promise the country can actually keep.”

“Not borrowed. Earned. Built to last.”

Constitutional Posture (Brief)

The bill embeds named constitutional defenses in its text and has been through an internal red-team audit. Pre-deprivation notice schedules are calibrated to Mathews v. Eldridge; penalty adjudication is routed to Article III courts with the Seventh Amendment jury right preserved (post-Jarkesy); the enforcement administrator is removable at will (Seila Law); SIRF funding is structured as a standing statutory appropriation (CFPB v. CFSA); and Title XIV divestitures carry just compensation for Fifth Amendment takings compliance. A severability clause (Sec. 205) preserves the remainder if any provision is struck. Open items are documented in the full Legal Architecture Review.
